

Would you like to network with other families in Indiana who have children with special needs?
If so, join our ListServ!

Indiana First Steps Family to Family maintains this listserv to help you link with other families to share information and resources. The list is for families who have children of any age. Here is our list description from the website, hosted by Yahoo Groups:

Description Category: Special Needs Families

Indiana F2F Parents is for all families of children with disabilities or special needs who are interested in networking with other families. Use this group to exchange information and resources with one another. Let us know about helpful websites you use. What support groups have you found helpful? What good books, magazines or newsletters would you recommend as a resource to other families? Do you know of an upcoming training that parents may want to attend? Do you participate on a local board or council? Can you help advise parents who want to do so? Please share information that will help build the knowledge base and leadership skills of other Indiana families.

To join, send an email to INF2Fparents-subscribe@yahoogroups.com. You will receive an email with further instructions about how register on the yahoo site and begin receiving messages.
