2022 ANNUAL REPORT

Valuing the power of parent-to-parent support and keeping families at the center of children's healthcare and education.

a year's overview

WHERE WE ARE NOW

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Indiana Family to Family is just one year old, although its roots date back to the late 1980s. The transformation from two organizations to one has been a journey on its own, one whose success depended on the commitment of its Board of Directors and team of family leaders who are dedicated to assisting other families. Their experiences have kept them steadfast because they know they can and do make a difference. They propel INF2F forward, tirelessly working for Indiana's children and families.

THE IMPACT

It is easy to feel helpless when you learn that your child is being bullied at school. When Lydia found out her son was being bullied at school, she was anything but helpless. One of the things she did was read through a copy of her parents' rights which she received from the school. In the additional resources section, she found information about Indiana Family to Family.

When Lydia contacted INF2F, she was able to speak with a Resource Specialist about the bullying her son was experiencing and mentioned her son's upcoming doctor's appointments. The Resource Specialist offered a few resources to help organize her thoughts for those upcoming appointments, which allowed her to better advocate for her son. Over the course of the conversation, Lydia also learned about other resources for her child.

"Words cannot describe how beneficial it is to talk to someone who understands, who has been there," she said.

Wendy es una hispanohablante que llegó a este país desde México. Al trabajar con un especialista en recursos bilingües, Wendy pudo aprender sobre la Exención de apoyo familiar de BDDS y cómo solicitarla. Esta exención podrá proporcionar terapias adicionales y apoyo para su hijo, lo que potencialmente puede beneficiarlo a lo largo de su vida.

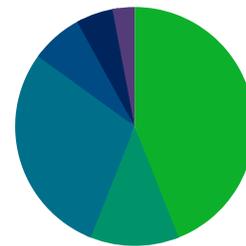

Wendy dice que solo tiene buenos comentarios sobre toda la ayuda que recibió de INF2F y que ayudaron a cambiar sus preocupaciones en oportunidades positivas.

Ella planea continuar trabajando con INF2F. Reconociendo que, a medida que los niños crecen, pueden surgir nuevos desafíos y es posible que se necesite un nuevo apoyo, Indiana Family to Family está disponible para construir relaciones continuas con las familias que les permitan volver a conectarse cuando lo necesiten.

Organizations and companies that fund INF2F make our work possible. Their generosity allows us to explore new methods of serving families and professionals while continuing our core work of direct peer support, resource development, information sharing, and advocacy.
