Indiana Disability Rights

Indiana Disability Rights (IDR) exists to uphold, promote, and advance the rights of individuals with disabilities through empowerment and advocacy to achieve a more equitable society.

As the federally mandated Protection and Advocacy (P&A) agency for the state of Indiana, we can go anywhere services for people with disabilities are provided. Our vision is to live in a fully accessible, equitable society where people with disabilities are free from abuse and neglect, are free to be effective advocates, and are free to fully exercise their civil, legal, and human rights, ensuring full inclusion.

What does IDR do?

- Provide information and resources. Our Intake Advocates will guide you to the most relevant resources that can help.
- Advocate with you and for you. Our skilled teams of Attorneys and Advocacy Specialists can support you to protect your rights.
- Investigate. We investigate allegations of people with disabilities being abused, neglected, and exploited.
- Monitor service providers. We can monitor any facility or service provider, whether private or public, that serves people with disabilities to ensure they are being treated appropriately.
- Advocate for the greater disability community. We collect feedback from the community to inform our policy priorities and fight for systemic change.

IDR provides resources and advocacy in the following areas:

- Abuse, Neglect and Discharge
- Civil Rights
- Education
- Employment
- Health Care
- Self Determination
- Voting Rights
